GUITEAU'S ATROCIOUS PLOT. hill furnishes the following for publica tion: The interest felt by the public in the details of the assassination and the many stories published, justify me in and accurate statement concerning points to which reference is made. The assassin, Charles Guiteau, came to CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, points to which reference is made. The March 6, 1881, and stopping at the Ebbitt House, remaining only one day. He then secured a room in another part of the city and has boarded and roomed at various places, full details of which ident. He had neither money nor a pistol at that time. About the last of May be went into O'Mear's store, corner of fifteenth and F streets, this city, and examined some pistols, asking for the largest calibre. He was shown two similar in calibre and only different in price. Wednesday, June 8, he purchased the pistol which he used, for wibch he paid ten dollars, he having in the meantime borrowed fifteen dollars of a gentleman in this city on a pretense that he wanted to pay his board bill. On the same evening about 7 o'clock, he took a pistol and went to the foot of Seventeenth street and practiced at a board, firing ten shots. He then returned to his boarding house and wiped the pistol dry and wrapped it in his leave for the Christian church on Vermont avenue, and he at once returned to his room, obtained his pistol, put it in his hip pocket and followed the Preside to church. He entered the church but I und he could not kill him there without danger of killing some one else. He noticed the President sat near a window. After church he made an examination of the window and found he could reach it without any trouble and from this point he could shoot the President through the head without injuring any one else. The following Wednesday he went to the church, examined the location of the window and became satisfied that he could accomplish his purpose, and he determined, therefore, to make the attempt at church the following Sunday. He learned from the papers that the President would leave the city on Saturday, the 18th of June, with Mrs. Garfield for Long Branch. He therefore determined to get him at the depot. He left his boarding place at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, June 18th, and went down to the river at the foot of Seventeenth street and fired five shot to practice his aim and be sure his pistol was in good order. He then went to the depot, and was in the ladies' waiting room of the depot with his pistol ready when the Presidential, party entered. He saw Mrs. Garfield LOOKED SO WEAK AND FRAIL

he had not the heart to shoot the Presi dent in her presence, and as he knew he would have another opportunity he left the depot. He had previously engaged a carriage to take him to jail. Wednesday evening the President and his son, and I think U. S. Marshal Henry, went out for a ride. The assassin took his wistol and followed them, and watched them for some time in hopes the car- Chamber Suits riage would stop, but no opportunity was given. Friday evening, July 1st, he was sitting on a seat in the park op- Desks, Stands, posite the White House, when he saw the President come out alone. He followed him down the avenue to Fifteenth street, and then kept on the opposite side of the street up Fifteenth until the President entered the residence of Secretary Blaine. He waited at the corner of Mr. Manton's late residence, corner of Fifteenth and H streets, for some time, and, as he was afraid he would attract attention, he went into the alley in the rear of Mr. Manton's residence, examined his pistol and waited. The President and Secretary Blaine came out together and he followed them over to the gate of the White House, but did not get an opportunity to use his weapon. On the morning of Saturday, July 2d, he breakfasted at the Riggs house about 7. He then walked up into the park and sat there for an hour. He then took a one-horse avenue car and rode to Sixth street, got out and went man for two dollars to take him to the jail, went into the water closet and took his pistol out of his pocket and unwrapgoedshe paper from around it, which he had put there for the purpose of preventing the perspiration from his body dampening the powder, examined the pistol carefully, tried the trigger, and then returned and took his seat in the ladies waiting room, and as soon as the and fired two shots. These facts, I think, can be relied upon as accurate, and I give them to the public to contradiet certain false rumors in connection with this most atrocious of atrocious

A Fool Once More.

"For ten years my wife was confined to her bed with such a complication of silments that no doctor could tell what was the matter or cure her, and I used up a small fortune in humbug stuff. Six months ago I saw a U. S. flag with Hop Bitters an it, and I thought I would be a fool once more. I tried it, but my folly proved to be wisdom. Two bottles cured her. She is now as well and strong as any man's wife and it cost strong as any man's wife, and it cost me only two dollars. Such folly pays.

ONE of the few gratifying circumstances attending the public calamity of Southern press. Without exception all joined in the fraternal testimonials of good-will directed to the President, and through him to the people of the North who elected him. These utterances have a far deeper significance than lies in the mere promptings of a common humanity. They show to what extent the National feeling has of late spread and taken root in the south. The people of that section may, in the heat of a political campaign, say many bitter words, but they are warm-hearted and impulsive in the presence of a real National sorrow. It is in truth theirs as much as ours. They confess its awfulness and transcendant importance in the same breath; and by their own language show how much more to them the whole Nation is than any fragment or unit of its system.

THE world seems to have a passion for tunnels. We are tired of going around and are fond of going through even at the enormous cost of labor. The Hoosae Tunnel was considered a wonderful undertaking even a year ago, but now there are in progress three tunnels in different parts of the world that make it look like a trifle. One is under the Alps, another under the Hudson River from Jersey City to New York, while the third is under the British Channel, and will be as long as all the rest togethor. By and by some audaeious engineer will tunnel the Atlantic for the benefit of sea-sick people.

AGAIN an attempt has been made in this country, at Philadelphia, to establish a "Marrirge Benefit Association," the object of which is to assure members a certain sum of money on marrying. Such societies should be numerous in this country, for young men will marry when they feel so disposed, even if they have to borrow a five dollar bill to pay the clergyman, and young women abet them in their rashness. A fixed sum with which to begin married li e would prevent a great many tempers from being spoiled, and, therefore, it would prevent divorces.

THE Kansas "Probibition Law" does t seem to work well. The Atchison Telegraph mentions a case in which six uncontradicted witnesses testified to having drank liquor in the defendant's bar-room, and yet the jury consisting of nine white men and three negroes, brought in a verdict of not guilty. And on that jury there was not a single German. Encouraged by this, many of the saloons have re-opened and are bidding defiance to the new law .- Richmond Conservator.

MR. CONKLING withheld his very mild expression of sympathy with the President until he laid himself liable to the charge of having it forced from him by the pressure of public opinion. It can do him no good, because he has shown the entire lack of that spontaneous sympathy with affliction even to an opponent, that if his was a really manly nature he could not have restrained.
